Aedes (Ochlerotatus) campestris

- Overwinters in egg stage
- Produces a single brood in northern climates
- Larvae can be found in various habitat types including alkaline pools, snowmelt and rain pools, and roadside ditches
- Females prefer to feed in the evening or early morning